BUILDING FALLS

ON BUSY CORNER

Apartment House Collapses in New York While Under Repair. One Person Known to Have Lost Life With Six Others Missing.

New York, Dec. 1.—Broadway, at Fifty-second street was suddenly transformed late this afternoon from a scene of bustling activity to one of desolation when a nine story apartment house under repair collapsed burying several persons beneath the debris. At least one person is believed to have been killed and six others are unaccounted for.

Broadway was crowded with shoppers, workers hurrying to their homes and afternoon theater goers when a terrific crash rent the air as the building toppled into the street. Fortunately the bulk of the debris fell into Fifty-second street which was comparatively free from vehicular and pedestrian traffic although tons of wreckage slid into Broadway itself. Six persons, three of them buried in the wreckage and later rescued, were injured. Searchers expressed fear to-night that other pedestrians seen passing beneath the tons of wreckage, covering the sidewalk in places a depth of six feet.

Smaller crashes occurred at intervals tonight as sections of the wall which remained standing after the first collapse, gave way. Other tottering sections threatened the lives of firemen and policemen who searched the debris for bodies in the glare of powerful searchlights.

Only the ground floor was occupied, an automobile concern having its offices there. The injured persons were mainly employees of this concern and workmen employed in repairing the building. Three girls in the automobile establishment were buried beneath the wreckage but were rescued, suffering only from cuts and bruises.

Police tonight held back crowds in Broadway while workmen engaged by the city building department risked their lives in an effort to relieve the weight on the upper floors and prevent a sagging wall on the Broadway side of the structure from giving way. Digging in the debris in the street was stopped when the wall still standing in parts of the Fifty-second street side and along Broadway threatened to collapse.

The men believed to have been killed was Jeff Smith, a foreman, employed by the wrecking company. A fellow employer working near Smith on an upper part of the building, reported that he saw the foreman carried down in the debris with the first crash.

All of the employees of the automobile concern were accounted for later and firemen then were kept out of the building owing to the danger of falling walls. Three suits of street clothes found in the building and thought to have been owned by construction company workmen, remained unclaimed and officials believe the owners were buried in the wreckage.

Late tonight another section of the Fifty-second street wall fell with a crash heard for blocks. Workmen tested the Broadway walls and as they appeared apparently safe, the police guard was relaxed to permit trolley cars to pass through the street. As the trolley cars moved, however, crowds rushed to the scene and police reserves were called to keep people out of danger.

Officials of the district attorney's office began an investigation to determine the cause of the accident.

Sidney B. Bowman, head of the automobile company, said tonight he made a complaint against the unsafety of the construction in September and that a temporary injunction was obtained but later was vacated in supreme court. An appeal from this decision Mr. Bowman said, now is pending in the appellate division of the supreme court.

HOLLY GROVE

Revival services at Holly Grove church this week.

Our teachers, Misses Powers and Abrams spent Thanksgiving at home. Mr. Roy Martin and family of Anderson, S. C., spent Thanksgiving with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Martin.

Mrs. C. M. Templeton has put acetylene lights in his new dwelling, and is very much pleased with them.

One of our neighbors recently purchased a billy goat for his little boys. We were visiting at the home, the little fellows brought Billy in for our inspection. The dog, feeling that the goat was infringing upon her rights, attempted to drive him out. Whereupon Billy proceeded to drive the dog out. In the fracas pandemonium reigned for a space. The little girl scurried up stairs. The mother caught up the baby and went somewhere, while your correspondent being fairly caught in a corner could do nothing but emit a series of yells. The father came running in telling us to stop our noise, and after some trouble succeeded in getting between the combatants. We are unable to say how he felt, but we felt that he was in a peculiarly dangerous position. He led Billy out and peace was restored.

Mr. Editor: We read in a recent issue of your paper an article signed "Old Farmer," and with your permission would be glad to make a few remarks in reply to same:

First, we would say that we are a true believer in democracy. Hurrah for our side! Though in the minority for the present. Quality sometimes surpasses quantity.

Second, we are for President Wilson, first, last and for all time. Brother farmer, mountain peaks stand alone, but they belong to high altitudes. You tell me that the principles and ideas for which he stands are obliterated? Never! Through our loyal hearts and true, our fair land is in the throes of change. The war was not six months old ere we realized that we were entering upon a new era, and when the clouds of these shall have passed, Wilson's day star will shine forth again bright and clear. And when those who are casting poison shafts at this great and good man shall have lived out their little day, and the place that knows them will know them no more, Woodrow Wilson's name will go down in history the peer of Washington. He was a great man of his time, but we question if ever he could have piloted the ship of State more successfully through the breakers of the world war than has President Wilson. He needs no one to defend his fame.
